Hello. When calling should defense counsel ask for anyone specific?

Hi Phil,

Sorry for the late response.

I consulted with the Chief of Laboratory and the Director regarding this motion for the above case.

We can provide any documents relating to quality control, maintenance and manuals, but it is quite voluminous. In the past, our solution has been to have defense counsel to call the lab and scheduled an appointment to view the material/s. They can make copies of the relevant documents for a small fee per page, if necessary. It is the policy of Dept of Public Health.

Sorry I could not have been of more help.

Thanks. Keep me posted.

Annie
